FX HEDGING CONTRACTS

THE FX HEDGING CONTRACTS

On 26 February 2026, MECOM New Materials, a non-wholly owned subsidiary of the Company, entered into the FX Hedging Contracts with the Bank, an Independent Third Party, to hedge against RMB/HK$ currency risk, in respect of a total Principal Amount of HK$100 million. The Group, through MECOM New Materials and Ao Gang Construction, is engaged in research and development and sales of new construction materials, and manufacturing and sales of intelligent equipment in its ordinary and usual course of business. As the Group's purchases of steel materials are denominated in RMB, while its sales of new construction materials are denominated in HK$, the Group will from time to time convert HK$ to RMB for settlement of trade payables and payment of operational expenses, resulting in foreign exchange exposure to the Group. In light of this, the Group has entered into the FX Hedging Contracts through MECOM New Materials with the aim of hedging against such currency risk.

LISTING RULES IMPLICATIONS

As the highest of the applicable percentage ratios for the transactions contemplated under the FX Hedging Contracts (on an aggregated basis) exceeds 5% but is less than 25%, such transactions constitute a discloseable transaction for the Company and is subject to the announcement and reporting requirements under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules.

On 26 February 2026, MECOM New Materials, a non-wholly owned subsidiary of the Company, entered into the FX Hedging Contracts with the Bank to hedge against RMB/HK$ currency risk, in respect of a total Principal Amount of HK$100 million. As at the date of this announcement, to the best of the Directors' knowledge, information and belief, and having made all reasonable enquiries, the Bank and its ultimate beneficial owners are Independent Third Parties.

FX Hedging Contracts are a type of hedging instrument. In essence, pursuant to the FX Hedging Contracts, MECOM New Materials will buy RMB against HK$ on a pre-agreed settlement date, at a fixed effective forward HK$:RMB exchange rate. Pursuant to the FX Hedging Contracts, MECOM New Materials shall pay the agreed sum of HK$ to purchase RMB at the agreed exchange rate within the agreed settlement period. The principal terms of the FX Hedging Contracts entered into by MECOM New Materials (as the purchaser of RMB) with the Bank (as the seller of RMB) are set out below:

The security deposit of the FX Hedging Contracts shall be RMB4,884,000, which will be settled by restricted deposits placed in the Bank by MECOM New Materials. Save for the security deposit, the FX Hedging Contracts require no initial cash outlay or purchase cost.

The aggregate Principal Amount was determined by the Group primarily with reference to the size of the intelligent manufacturing business of the Group, while the effective HK$:RMB exchange rates under the FX Hedging Contracts were determined by the Group primarily with reference to the recent developments in the HK$:RMB exchange rate.

REASONS FOR AND BENEFITS OF THE FX HEDGING CONTRACTS

The Group, through MECOM New Materials and Ao Gang Construction, is engaged in research and development and sales of new construction materials, and manufacturing and sales of intelligent equipment in its ordinary and usual course of business. As the Group's purchases of steel materials are denominated in RMB, while its sales of new construction materials are denominated in HK$, the Group will from time to time convert HK$ to RMB for settlement of trade payables and payment of operational expenses, resulting in foreign exchange exposure to the Group. In light of this, the Group has entered into the FX Hedging Contracts through MECOM New Materials with the aim of hedging against such currency risk.

The Directors consider that the terms of the FX Hedging Contracts are on normal commercial terms, fair and reasonable and in the interest of the Company and its shareholders as a whole.

The Group will continue to monitor developments in the HK$:RMB exchange rate and may enter into further foreign exchange hedging transactions from time to time.
